Dear Mr. Adiatori:

I will talk to you in the name of a group of students of the Chemistry School of the University of Mexico (UNAM). We want to get your book: "The New Heat Transfer" and we want to know what kind of discount you can offer to us considering that we are "some" and also that we are students, that is the purpose of my letter.

We knew of your book through Mr Alejandro Anaya, our Chemical Engineering teacher; once he gave us a problem to solve and one of the students did it by the "traditional method". It took him some minutes to find the answer, then Mr Anaya told us about the "new method" forgetting "unnecessary concepts" and the same problem was solved in one computation, that is what impressed us and what makes me write to you.

Please tell me the individual rate price of your book and also if you have a group discount price, include handling and shipping charges either for a single order or for a group. One last favor: hurry up to send me your answer.

sincerely

Andres Espriella
